WE CAN FIGHT BRAIN TUMOURS WITH YOUR HELP...

The statistics for brain tumours are shocking:

- Brain tumours kill more children than leukaemia or any other cancer
- Brain tumours kill more women under the age of 35 than breast or any other cancer
- Brain tumours kill more men under the age of 45 than prostate or any other cancer
- Yet brain tumour research receives less than 1% of national cancer research spending

What's more, as so called cures are found for breast, skin and other cancers, the numbers of people diagnosed with a brain tumour is increasing as many of those survivors go on to develop a secondary cancer in the brain.

20% of all cancers spread to the brain

Currently, a disproportionate amount of UK research funding is channelled into leukaemia and the more pervasive cancers such as breast and prostate. It is vital that we get behind the cause of brain tumours and raise much needed funds for research.

UNHAPPY FACT

For brain cancer patients, the five year survival is just 14%. Support us today and you can help us change that fact for good.

16,000 diagnosed with a brain tumour each year

20% of all cancers spread to the brain

More people under 40 die of a brain tumour than from any other cancer

Brain tumour research receives less than 1% (0.7%) of national cancer research spending in the UK

HELP US raise £7 million every year to fight brain tumours

Continuity of research programmes is essential if we are to turn round the fortunes of those diagnosed with a brain tumour, in the same way as has been achieved for leukaemia and breast cancer.

We need to increase significantly the level of funding that goes into brain tumour research and establish regional centres of excellence dedicated to laboratory-based brain tumour research. These centres will collaborate with clinical centres across the region as well as develop collaborations within the UK, throughout Europe and North America.

We aim to provide a regular input of substantial funds (£1 million per year) to maintain seven centres of excellence to get seven times closer to a cure for brain tumours.

Our Mission

To raise at least £7 million per annum

To accelerate progress significantly in brain tumour research in the UK in order to make a clinical difference

To improve the outcomes for brain tumour patients
